--	---------------------	---------------

Do you know, as we say, “a little Spanish” and would you like to learn more? This class will serve two purposes. First, it will enhance the knowledge of the student through increasing their vocabulary and practicing verbs in present and past tenses. Secondly, it will develop their listening ability thus leading to more involved conversation. Course uses the textbook: Spanish Conversation Easy Learning by Collins.

The textbook is $13, payable to instructor on February 16.

Hud Richard is a retired Roman Catholic priest who spent 10 years in two inner-city Hispanic parishes in Connecticut (Hartford and New Haven) where he conducted services and some pastoral duties in Spanish. Besides the usual high school and college courses (especially the advance conversational course at Boston College), he spent two summers in intensive language courses. The first was in Cuernavaca, Mexico where he lived with a Mexican family. (Four students in the class.) The second was at Middlebury, Vermont in their International Language School. He taught Spanish (beginning/advance) for two years in a parish elementary school in Connecticut. He also taught an informal class at Kings Point, Sun City Center at the request of some residents.
